All children with the ability and desire to do so have the right to speak and be heard regarding their case at the Swedish Migration Agency. Children may express their views themselves, or allow a representative (such as a parent, guardian or legal guardian) to do it for them. The child and the child's guardian (parent) must decide whether the child wants to speak and, if so, in what way. It is important that it is the child's views that come forward and not the adult's. If the child's parents are interviewed verbally, the child will also be interviewed verbally.

Documents that you should enclose with your application

If the application is for a family member 18 years of age or older, please enclose

- copies of the pages in your passport that show your personal information, photograph, signature, passport number, passport-issuing country, the passport's period of validity and whether you have permission to live in countries other than your country of origin. If your passport is about to expire, we recommend that you renew it, as you cannot obtain a permit for longer than the validity of your passport
- documents, such as bank statements, that prove that you will be able to support yourself
- copy of marriage certificate or equivalent (applies to married couples or registered partners)
- population registration certificate, accommodation contract, proof of purchase for accommodation or other documents that show you have lived together in your home country (applies to cohabiting partners)
- if you are not applying for the permit at the same time, a short letter from the person in Sweden in which he or she confirms that you will be living together in Sweden.

If the application concerns a child under the age of 18, you must instead enclose

- copies of the pages in the child's passport that show their personal information, photograph, signature (if applicable), passport number, passport-issuing country, the passport's period of validity and whether the child has permission to live in countries other than his or her country of origin. - documents, such as bank statements, that prove that there are arrangements to support the child
- a birth certificate or other proof of birth for the child showing the names of the parents
- consent from the other guardian (if the other guardian is not also coming to Sweden) or proof that a family member is the sole guardian. This could be a court order, or a death certificate if the other parent has died. If there is joint guardianship, a copy of the other guardian's passport or another form of identification must also be provided
- adoption papers if the child is adopted.
- optionally a separate sheet of paper with the child's views.
